The Other Horses Only Necks Apart at the Finish-Sloan Takes the Autumn Stakes. The metropolitan public paid a big compliat to the Coney Island Jockey Club and sport of kings," yesterday by conceding of place on the holiday list of attraction Sheepshead Bay. Crowds began to flock all directions at the picturesque sacing grk as early as midday and long before the summoned the horses for the first race, spacious grounds were comfortably filled by a gathering such as is rarely seen at the except on special days signalized by or the Futurity. The throng most noticeable in the field stand and its ann, as might be expected at an outing especally set apart for the toilers who rarely receive oliday and know how to appreciate it when teemes along. They thronged the democratic accessive and then overflowed into the infield where they stood in rows along the rail during the flat racing and on each side of the jumps while the steeplechase was in progress. Vacant wats were hard to find from the field stand right along to the club house, and the total dance possibly exceeded 15,000.

The sport proved well worthy of this liberal and if the programme had to be ned over again it is doubtful whether it been made more attractive or exar jockeys received an opportunity to bid for e apparently surcharged. Winning favorites ded the honors, but that made little ce to the festive holiday folk who genoutsider and spend the long interval the next day off in explaining how the are was won and lost. The Whitstable was not directly represented, but in E. Madden, the trainer of lished Bey, turned out Longshoreman, Eothen colt recently purchased from the led Kentucky breeder, owner and trainer, James T. Sloan, for Frank L. Gardner. The rgot in under the conditions at 108 pounds i was ridden by Sloan in the novel khaki tume adopted by his new owner. The ness sent Conroy, the St. Leonards colt it won his only two previous starts incuding take winch raised his weight to 122 pounds. Sincer had the mount and as a further render of the Flatbush trouble, Smile appared in the Morris scarlet, but this time defield took MoJoynt's place in the saddle. E. Seagram's colt Far Rockaway, with the weight and Shaw in the saddle made upfleid and small and large bettors immetely plunged on Longshoreman at even may. Smile ruled second choice at 16 to 5, the 4 to 1 was freely offered against Conroy of to 1 against Far Rockaway.

J. E. Seagram's colt Far Rockaway, with the proveight and Shaw in the saddle made up the field and small and large betters immedately plunged on Longshoreman at even money. Smile ruide second choice at 16 to 5, while 4 to 1 was freely offered against Conroy and 7 to 1 against Far Rockaway.

They got off to an even break and Conroy at once took up the running, lapped by Far Rockaway, with Longshoreman lying third. With one of the widest tracks in the country under them they again lay close together to be shight bend which leads from the new chute to the racetrack. There Sloan and Spencer frew clear of the others and the former made for the straight route on top of the track while Spencer steered for the linner rail. Passing the field stand the race looked a gift for Conroy, but Sloan, after one good look at his rival, sat down, or rather reached out in his coif's withers for a surreme effort and spife Spencer's response "the iceman" was again forced to finish second. The lot appeared to faish in the order named, but the struggle proved so close that the judges called it a dead heat between Ethelbert and Jack Point with the others only necks apart. It was the greatest handicap ever framed by W. S. Vosburgh and an all-round finish for which the oldest borsemen on the ground could not recall a precedent. Killashandra made most of the running and Ethelbert hung onto her flanks for five furlogs. Then he dropped back to fifth place, sting up Martimas and Jack Point. There was considerable crowding turning out of the backstetch and around the bend for home and Perry Beimont's big strioing horse was the chief sufferer, judging from the marks he carried back to the puddock. The contest through the stretch baffled description, but it looked as if Ethelbert had his head in front at the line. De judges, however, decided that Jack Point caught him in the final stride and the owners escided to divide. The time, although well outsine record, was astonishingly good considering that the horses had to face a strong beauwind twice in the long homestretch. Hato won the steeplecomes after a spirited contest with Old Tank and Charagrace. The waner ruled favorite in conjunction with his stable mate, Mars Chan, who wound up fifth. The sensational feature was furnished by George Keene. He turned turtle at the fence opposite the ring on the second circuit and almost flattened out his rider, Burgess. The boy
